You're hard to hug, tough to talk to
And I never fall asleep, when you're in my bed
All you give me is a heartbeat
I've turned into a statue
And it makes me feel depressed Cause the only time you open up is when we get undressed

You don't love me, big fucking deal
I'll never tell, you how I feel
You don't love me, not a big deal
I'll never tell you how I feel

Hook:
It almost feels like a joke to play out the part
When you are not the starring role in someone else's heart
You know I'd rather walk alone, than play a supporting role
If I can't get the starring role.

Sometimes I ignore you so I feel in control Cause really, I adore you, and I can't leave you alone
Fed up with the fantasies, they cover what is wrong Come on, baby, let's just, get drunk, forget we don't get on

You like my dad, you get on well
I send my best, regards from hell

Hook:
It almost feels like a joke to play out the part
When you are not the starring role in someone else's
heart
You know I'd rather walk alone, than play a supporting
role
If I can't get the starring role

I never sent for love, I never had a heart to mend Because before the start began, I always saw the end

Yeah, I wait for you to open up, to give yourself to me
But nothing's ever gonna give, I'll never set you free Yeah I'll never set you free

Hook:

It almost feels like a joke to play out the part
When you are not the starring role in someone else's
heart
You know I'd rather walk alone, than play a supporting
role
If I can't get the starring role.
