My Love Will Keep

Adrienne Young / Mark D. Sanders

Baby were you just about to kiss me

Or were you just about to leave

Come and sit down here beside me

Maybe take a moment just to breathe

Well I could say I'm sorry

And I could tell you I was wrong

I just can't say FOREVER

But here after from NOW ON

I love you in the winter when the roots grow deep

Love you in the spring when the leaves turn green

I love you in the summer when the trees grow tall

I love you in the fall of the year

When the leaves turn brown

When they cover the ground

Down where the roots grow deep

My love will keep

Why worry 'bout our future

If we're not worried 'bout our past

So don't you worry 'bout that question

You've been just about to ask

I love you in the winter when the roots grow deep

Love you in the spring when the leaves turn green

I love you in the summer when the trees grow tall

I love you in the fall of the year

When the leaves turn brown

When they cover the ground

Down where the roots grow deep

My love will keep
