"Bend In The River"

Visit "Bend In The River" on MotoLyrics.com

Past the first bend in the river is another bend I can't see
And the bend that keeps calling is the bend that keeps hiding from me
Past the first hill on the desert is another hill I can't see
And the hill that keeps calling is the hill that keeps
hiding from me

In the cottonwood by the river a mourning dove calls his mate
He has true love to give her but love for me must wait Till I've traveled every river and each desert hill I have climbed
If I find love to my liking I'll leave the river's bend far behind
