i lost my girl on monday looking for some sympathy i went to church directly the lord was not there for me didn't go to work on tuesday got to drinking around noon i lost my heart to a mean bartender she knocked me off my stool now the world's spinning round too fast lord won't you let me off on the corner you know a man could take to sinning all he needs's a little push in that direction i lost my job on friday said a lack of discipline
i went to church directly peter said he was not in i hit the bar on sunday looking for some discipline i sold my soul to the mean bartender she said i'm born again
all he needs's a little pushing you time it just right you could send me to the lions tonight
