My sun is setting over her magic equal parts caring and tragic I'll be burning for awhile my heart's sinking under the weight of things so real I can hardly tell if it's you or if it's me

but she doesn't like that she says that I'm out there but she'll never know if that's for sure

I was there when you sang to your father told him all of the beauty to come I'll remember for awhile but now my heart is breaking under the weight of things so clear I can hardly tell

she doesn't like that
