Are you alone? Can you talk to an old friend?
Right or wrong, I had to hear your voice again

Unwritten law, protocol
Says to leave the past alone

I just wanted you to know
Sometimes driving home at night
I let your memory take control
And you're sitting by my side

I turned up the radio
Cruised down old route 59
Girl it's solid gold, well I'll let you go
I just wanted you to know

Through the vine, I heard your life has turned out well
As for mine, you know it's really hard to tell

'Cause now and then, what might have been Interferes with what might be

And I just wanted you to know
Sometimes driving home at night
I let your memory take control
And you're sitting by my side

I turned up the radio
And cruise down old route 59
Girl it's solid gold, well I'll let you go
I just wanted you to know

Please don't cry, I'll say goodbye
And I won't call you anymore

But I just wanted you to know
Sometimes driving home at night
I let your memory take control
And you're sitting by my side

I turned up the radio
Cruised down old route 59

Girl it's solid gold well I'll let you go
I just wanted you to know
