It's like we stole this from a movie Counting Stars under the brightest night that I have ever seen

It's like we stole this scene because it's times like these that don't seem real

Don't forget to hold my hand
I'm counting stars for you Don't forget you can't forget

We'll make a wish you say but the shooting stars eventually fade
I hope we never fade away

If heaven's real you say Then I'd rather stay Than be sent up without you Because it's heaven here with you

The stars are coming out and your eyes fit right in It's just so perfect how you make them seem so dim
The stars are coming out
