"In Vain"

Our love runs deeper than you know no one can falter pull us under you know I love you oh I do if I would have to let you go my soul would crumble islands rumble pain no man should ever know
'cause in vain I would love you baby

even in a different world
even in a different space even if I'm out my mind even if I'm out of place even if our love was blind far beyond the human gaze
even in a different world
'cause in vain I would love you baby always

I've watched raindrops turn to snow contemplating while we're waiting days are nights only glow there ain't much left for me to know your love's greater I'd die for you there ain't no place I can go
'cause in vain I would love you baby chase you to the end of the earth and beyond the universe out in the universe out in the universe always don't look back

don't look back cause in vain I would love you always
