You said that we'd never part,
said that nothing could tear us apart.
What happened to your promises?
You were always there from the start.

You said you'd stay by my side,
thought in you I'd always confide.
How could you now be drawn away?
How badly I want you to stay.

I believed every word you said
you didn't mean to lie.
But tell me now then!

Why are you walking away?
You're slowly fading out.
I know I can't make you stay.
Don't leave me here this way.

You said that we'd never part,
said that nothing could tear us apart.
What happened to your promises?
You were always there from the start.

I believed every word you said
you didn't mean to lie.
But tell me now then!

Why are you walking away?
You're slowly fading out.
I know I can't make you stay.
It's not fair, what awaits you on the other side.

Why are you walking away?
You're slowly fading out.
I know I can't make you stay.
Don't leave me here.

Don't leave me here this way.
