"Dark Heart Waiting"

you say Im not this struggle, an angel waiting in disguise when truth gets complicated, this time I swear I'll do it right from this great distance I see you in my skin when all your past is searching I feel you closing in what lies in this dark heart waiting give me time to find my way what lives have I been wasting in this line of sight I cannot stay

I pray im not this image, but time has left its self behind when I attempt to settle, the moment never feels just right so I am not this struggle, and still I never show, the fears that live inside me only I truly know,

in this line of sight I cannot stay
