Imagine again
I lean a little closer
Just to breathe you in

The words are in blue
They wake me with the meanings
And the thoughts of you

I can?t give you
Treasures that only men have made
But what I can give you
No one can ever take away

Twisting the day
I always laze myself
So I can find you awake

It promises me
They whisper all the yearnings
That I swear you need

I can?t give you
Treasures that only men have made
But what I can give you
No one can ever take away

I got a long way
A long way to come down
I got a long way
A long way to come down

I can?t give you
Treasures that only men have made
But what I can give you
No one can ever take away

I can?t give you
Treasures that only men have made
But what I can give you
No one can ever take away

Away, away, away, away, away

Away, away, away, away, away
