Lyrics written by Mary Applegate & Marque
Music written by Marque

She walks alone
She has no home
Guess everybody has their cross

He needs to drink
Don't want to think
'bout all the poetry that's lost

Chorus:
For those who think that life is gone
For those who think there is no one
A little love would be enough
That's all

Up out of reach
We put our dreams
The grass is greener way beyond

Did we neglect?
To see the depth
Life is an ocean not a pond
Chorus:
For those who think that life is gone
For those who think there is no one
A little love would be enough
That's all

For those who think that life is gone
For those who think there is no one
A little love would be enough
That's all

No cash or gold can fill this hole
(shake your moneymaker)
What can't be bought now can't be sold
(can't be sold)

Just a little love would be enough
That's all
