(Todd Michael Sansom)

I don't have to tell You what I'm going through
I know You can see it for yourself
But in the early morning hours
In the darkness of this room
I've never been so desperate for Your help

I still believe that You made me to be with her
Until the day I leave this world behind
But on a pillow wet with tears that still taste of angry words
I can't blame her if she's changed her mind

Is she gone
You're the only one who knows
If that girl who's lying next to me
Has left me here alone
Is she gone
Is it too late to hear my prayers
I know that she's right there
But is she gone

You've already blessed me more than I deserve
And we both the sinner that I've been So You don't owe me anything and asking this takes nerve
But You saved us once, Lord, could You again

Is she gone
You're the only one who knows
If that girl who's lying next to me
Has left me here alone
Is she gone
Is it too late to hear my prayers
I know that she's right there
But is she gone

She's the warmth of the sun in my world
And we both know I can't give without that girl

Is she gone

You're the only one who knows
If that girl who's lying next to me
Has left me here alone
Is she gone
Is it too late to hear my prayers
I know that she's right there
But is she gone

I know that she's right there
But is she gone?
