Well I'm sittin down in San Antoine' waitin' on the eight o'clock train My woman left me here last night things ain't been quite the same

I gotta get back to Dallas and tie up a few loose ends I'm gonna work a week make a hundred dollars ahhh hit the road again

So I don't want you to think that you the first one to leave me out here on my own
'cause this ain't gonna be the first time
this ol' cowboy
spent the night alone

Well Honey I've been a fool but a bigger fool I can't remember when I've been Just to open up my heart and let you walk right in

But there's one thing in life that ain't hard for me to do and thats as soon as I kiss the lips of another women I'm gonna forget all about you

So I don't want you to think you the first one
to leave me out here on my own
'cause this ain't gonna be
spent the night alone

Ah if you wrote all the womens' names

that I've know'd and let me pick one out I don't believe there be one in the whole bunch Ah I'd give a hoot about

So I don't want you to think
that you the first one to leave this ol' boy out here on his own No it ain't gonna be

No it ain't gonna be
