

Martha Redbone "Boyfriend"

Visit "Boyfriend" on MotoLyrics.com standing in a starbucks line, he was sipping lemonade he didn't give a damn about all the people or what they said

I ordered my coffee, strong and black and straight we talked about love and garbage and he told me that he was gay

I guess it's c'est la vie, guess I should have known thought i'd found a lover, that's the way life goes said he'd like to know me, see me once again maybe we can hang...

chorus

he said i've got a boyfriend he said i've got a boyfriend, ooh
he said i've got a boyfriend but I kinda like girls, too...

even all the times we hung out on platonic dates it was only then that I found out we were true soulmates I was almost certain that he'd suit me to the tee til I caught him wearing my dress- and looking better than me

I guess it's c'est la vie, guess I should have known
thought i'd found a lover, that's the way life goes said he'd like to know me, and his feelings sometimes change but I thought...what a waste...eh?

chorus

I guess it's c'est la vie, guess I should have known
thought i'd found a lover, that's the way life goes
said he'd like to know me, see me once again
maybe we can hang...

repeat chorus

Visit Martha Redbone page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

