Baby I bought wine and roses on my way home
Yeah I know we can't afford it
But life doesn't last too long
This world has gone half-crazy
And knocked us both to our knees
I'm fumbling for the words to try to tell you
I love you for hangin' onto me

Chorus:

When anyone else would've been long gone
Packed it up and headed back home
And not a soul would blame you after what I put you through
Yeah anyone else would've gone insane
Called the game on a count of rain
Anyone else, anyone else
Anyone but you

Mayday baby
All the rivets popped loose
It's a total tailspin
Too much grindstone
Too little time with you
Girl, you know it's wearing thin

Baby let's trade in these teardrops
For warm kisses on skin
You got a drawer full of IOU's
And it's high time you called those things in

Chorus

You've passed up so many chances
To walk right out that door
Instead of dodging a champagne cork
And watchin' the wet clothes fall to the floor

When anyone else would've been long gone
Packed it up and headed back home
And you can hide behind a Cheshire cat grin
But you know it's true
Yeah anyone else would've gone insane

Called the game on a count of rain
Anyone else, anyone else
Anyone but you

Anyone else
Girl, anyone but you
