well there's this girl i sort of know every time i see her she seems to put on a show i don't know if that's her personality or if she is really happy to see me but either way she makes me smile and a girl hasn't done that in a while next time i saw her i asked for her name i didn't want to play any games i love the way she flips her hair and that sweet, daring stare alissa alissa runs through my mind i wake up in the night and she's on my mind i watch tv in the morning and she's on my mind i go to the beach at noon and she's on my mind.....alissa

every time i see her i get tingles goosebumps and smiles linger will she ever feel the same way? i want my answer soon, today unfortunately that day came i saw her with a boyfriend, don't know his name the tingles and goosebumps still sustained although my stomach and heart were in pain

a picture of myself being her boyfriend is in my mind then one day came that cleared my head i saw her when she had just gotten out of bed she smelled incredibly bad her having a boyfriend no longer made me mad her terrible odor decreased my moods instead of wanting to kiss her, i wanted to puke i couldn't imagine being with a girl who smelled so bad hell, i'd rather be with someone the age of my dad alissa alissa is no longer on my mind she smells of garbage and rotten food of some kind alissa alissa is finally off my mind finally finally, alissa is off my mind
