Somehow runnin'Â´
Somehow stumblin'Â´
In circles and in vain
Then I stopped chasing
Threw in my cards
Â´cause the world made me insane
I have reached the ceiling
Fair enough
But I hope weÂ´ll keep in touch
This time
ItÂ´ll be alright

Amitriptylin
Feels as if IÂ´m in
An uneven war
Though IÂ´m drowsy
I will make sure
That I wonÂ´t mess with me no more
For I know this evening
YouÂ´ll be there
You and me, but donÂ´t be scared
This night itÂ´ll be alright

"The Moralizer's Way"

When the page is blank thereÂ´s nothing more to say
Seems as if I aim too high at least today
I have tried to turn around a thousand times
So I used to close my eyes to find in dreams what I canÂ´t find in life

Let it be they say
When you try to save the day
Never say a word and scream hurray
And donÂ´t doubt that it is good this way
Every day is grey
ThatÂ´s the moralizer's way
When the party's over scream hurray
Though it leaves a bitter taste

"See the light"

One thought has crossed my mind today
What if I could use this song to say
Goodbye to the cold and rainy days
But that's not the wall that blocks my way
Have you ever thought that your life could be too short
'Cause you never can go back in time
So the things that occurred, a wedding or divorce,
You can only keep them in your mind
And my heart tells me I should give my life another try

So I'll use this evening
To see the light
Though I still can't say goodbye
This time
It'll be alright
