Just a few more days 'til spring
And I'm crossing my fingers
Let this snow melt into rain
The city is deserted
As if everybody heard
That this town doesn't
Want us 'round today
And I've got that feeling
My life is caving in
I can't help but feel that way

Don't you tell me that
All in good time
That I'll be just fine.

I'd feel so much better
If you'd loosen my tether
As I'm tossed about your
Cold white pole
I'd get on the freeway
Keep driving 'til next Tuesday
And put a thousand miles
Between us, or more
But I know that's not possible
All the streets here run in circles
I wouldn't even make it
Out of the core

So don't you tell me that
All in good time
That I'll be just fine
Don't you try and ease my mind
Don't waste my time

If I do get through this
I promise you this
Next time around I'll get it right
I'll walk through your ghost town
In nothing but my night-gown
And you can blow with all your might
And I'll face you smiling
Whether dying or surviving

But for now I've just got to try and
Make it though tonight

Don't you tell me that
All in good time
That I'll be just fine
Don't you try and ease my mind
No, don't waste my time
Don't you tell me that I'll be just fine
'Cause I know I'm not fine
Don't you ask me to try and be kind
'Cause it's personal this time
