Down where the tradewinds play down where they lose the day

We found a new world where Paradise starts
We traded hearts the night that I sailed away Flowers were in her hair music was everywhere
Under an awning of silvery boughs
We traded vows the night that I sailed away

Tradewinds what are vows that lovers make Tradewinds are they only made to break
When it is May again I'll sail away again Though I'm returning it won't be the same
She traded her name way down where the tradewinds play

Tradewinds what are vows that lovers make...
