I've been buildin' me a brand new life
I go somewhere almost every night
I found a lover and some friends of my own
I do just fine until I'm alone

Then here your memory comes again
Just when I think my broken heart would mend
I think I'm over you and then
Here your memory comes again

I've been tryin' to just live for today
I seem to make it so much better that way
Sometimes I think the pain is all past
I tell myself I'm free at last

Then here your memory comes again
Just when I think my broken heart would mend

I think I'm over you and then
Here your memory comes again

Then here your memory comes again
Just when I think my broken heart would mend
I think I'm over you and then
