Just the memory of your body next to mine
Now you're gone
Just the thought of your hair blowin' in the sunshine
Now you're gone
Just, memories are somethin' I took for granted
Just memories I have for you
Just memories are left
Now I find I miss you

I lay here in my room and start to wonder why
I let you go
I never even offered to tell you goodbye
I just let you go
Now the table's turned and it's my turn to suffer
I never realized you were my life
And now I find more than anything
I miss you
