Loud thump
As my fist descends on wood
Cut, as your knife is swallowing my Blood
Can't, I Can't

White tear slipped out of my eyes
Onto a plate
Glass shattered by the angers of our
Hate
Can't I, I can't Ever risk an openness, ever risk an
Openness with you

Fell out, wondered like a lost heart in
A ring
Bells, losing sight of Jesus as he sinks
Can't, I can't

I can't ever risk an openness
Ever risk an openness, Ever risk
An openness with you.

And if I did ...
