In the rain, in the pouring sun
I have hardly begun to celebrate you
For a chance, for a thousand years
I will fight just to steer a moment
With you

I'm so frightened, a heart's
Excitement
I'll kiss you

In a field, running through the trees
Oh what can this be, ridiculous and
New
I'll retreat, then advance to the front
Unafraid to be blunt, I'm taking you

See my fire, I can't tire
I'll kiss you to death
If you even try to get away

What's the time, a quarter-past none
And infinity is long, waiting for you
There you are, stepping out of a train
Igniting the flame, this calamity
That's you.

Got you, keep you, prepared for you.
