Have you ever been so close that it blinds you
You lose your focus til the distance falls away
Have you ever been so lost, and somebody finds you
And brings you back your faith, well I have and...
I've seen you cry, I've watched you sleeping
No one knows you better than I do, I can't believe you still don't see me

Oh, you don't know me as well as you think you do
I've got secrets, places that I hide
You don't know me as well as I want you to Come inside, come inside, inside

Have you ever felt a touch change direction
In an instant turn from something casual, to more I've never felt so much affection
And now this wondering at what's behind the door
And you've held my hand, we've walked for miles and miles
Can't we pretend
That we're just meeting for the first time

Oh, you don't know me as well as you think you do
I've got secrets, places that I hide
You don't know me as well as I want you to Come inside, come inside, inside

We've been the other half of each other
For as long as I can remember
I won't believe that you don't feel this

Oh, you don't know me as well as you think you do
I've got secrets, places that I hide
You don't know me as well as I want you to Come inside, come inside, inside
