

Mary Hopkin

"Kew Gardens"

Visit "Kew Gardens" on MotoLyrics.com

The air was cool
On lilly pools
Hazy, lazy
And here and there
He'd stop to stare
Admiring all the flowers
Wandering on for hours

The sun was warm
Across the lawn
Scented , Blended
He saw her linger
And wih a finger
open up a rose
Standing on tip toes

(Instrumental)

Suddenly the rain came flurrying
Sending the two of them scurrying
Helter skelter for the shelter
And feeling bolder in the big pagoda
He gently enquired her name
And they waited 'til the sunshine came

Kew gardens

And for a while
The griffin smiled
Kindly, blindly
'Til the evening bell
Broke the spell
And sadly they said goodbye
And one of the griffins cried

(Instrumental)

Visit Mary Hopkin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

