Today, you can say what you want to say
Be who you want to be and change your mind
Today, you can do what you want to do
Believe what you want to believe, and tell your side

But I will not be moved
To give up all my hope
And I refuse to watch
My life through a telescope
Awake, two hands on a pouring face
Our lives at a speeding pace in a heartbreak line
Today, a sound in a quiet place
A light in a darkened state will change our lives

And I will not be moved
To give up all my hope
And I refuse to watch
My life through a telescope
So won't you come with me
So we can find our way
We started hand in hand
And finish still the same

We've been run to death
We're visitors at my wake
So this will be my best
I give to you today

I will not be moved
To give up all my hope
And I refuse to watch
My life through a telescope
