You say you love me
Well I've heard that line before, you see
I'm a girl who's been hurtin' now & knows the score
You say you're not like the rest
So let's see--can you pass, can you pass the test?

Here's a piece of my heart an old love tore apart
When he lied, a false love in me
Can you fix it? Do you think you can mend it?
Well if you can, then & only then will I put my trust in you

'Cause heartaches by the number that an old love gave to me
So you've got to have love & understandin', 'cause that's the remedy
Yeah yeah, lonely nights without slumber & tearful memories
So I need true love to rely on, a shoulder to cry on

So here's a piece of my heart an old love tore apart
When he vowed he'd forever be true
Can you fix it? Is your love enough to mend it?
Until you do, then & only then will I give my love to you
So can you fix it? I wanna know, can you mend it?
Yeah I need a love that's true, that won't leave me blue
So come on, come on baby & fix it Heartbreak is mighty tough, so I wanna know, do you care enough?
...& fade
