someday I'd like to be president it's a job that's caught my eye I know I'd enjoy being president and here's the reason why no one tells the president how to dress no one bugs him if his oval office is a mess no one tells him when it's time to mow the white house lawn and if anybody tried to you can bet they'd soon be gone bye bye!

no one tells the president not to slouch no one says, don't put your feet on mr. lincoln's couch no one tells him company's here. use your fork and spoon unless they want to be the next ambassador to the moon

no one tells the president
no one tells the president what to do no one tells the president not to run no one says there's no dessert until that speech is done no one says the press is coming, clean behind your ears unless they want to have a time out for the next four years

she'll change all the rules the kids'll run the schools she'll be on the side of girls and boys she'll fix all the laws she'll be like santa claus and her cabinet will overflow with toys

no one tells the president what to speak ashley?
no one says you can't be on t.v. for one whole week time to eat!
so when you've had enough of time to eat and where've you been I'm heading down to washington to get myself sworn in cuz no one tells the president mary-kate!

come on!
time to wash up!
girls?
I mean it!
I'm gonna count to three
one
two
now!
coming!
see you on election day
