how does a prima graduate to ballerina i'll give you a little clue to be in the world class ballet company there's one thing that you must love to do practice practice practice if at first you don't succeed don't give up, just keep on trying till you get up to speed first position, second position, third and fourth and fifth plies make you sleek and strong but first you're gonna be kinda stiff time to do our releves, then our pas de bournettes we're dizzy doing pirouettes, we love our grand jetes

practice practice practice at the ballet barre this is what you love to do to be a ballet star do your best and you'll get better just don't call it quits all at once you'll find that you're so flexible you can even do the splits

first position, second position, on and on it goes and one day you'll do aerobettes standing on your toes

for each and every one percent of style and inspiration a new york city ballerina gives it ninety nine percent perspiration

practice practice practice will surely make you number one but you don't have to be a prima just to have some fun
