Till eternity it'll fascinate
My burning eyes, taste these words
You can't evade the mystery
Of its existence, a sight for blind
Wake the sleeping sense
Make the stones lifelike
Calm the wildest storm
And the wild waves of the sea
So confident they dance, through every day
Intoxicated, lost, without no words to say
A confident dance, into the light
A confident dance, no left, no right
The smell of nature flows, the perfume on the grave

Enigmatic and strange, it puzzles your mind
A confident dance, giggles behind your back
A confident dance, into the light
The mirror and the girl
The marble and the boy
Doors are open wide
No question to this answer
The marble and the boy
The mirror and the girl
Windows are open wide
I'm the silence, they're my words
