And so you hide behind your thoughts
The way to word is long
You think that run is wrong
Patiently waiting for the birth
The ground is so unsteady
Are you sure that you're ready
So let all the lights go out
When the third stage closes in on you
Yes let all the lights go out
Clandestine dreams come true
And so you hide behind your thoughts

So very far from here
In a state of doubt and fear
A spark that's now become a fire
But these are flames that warm you
Yes all these flames won't burn you
So let all the lights go out
When the third stage closes in on you
Yes let all the lights go out
Clandestine dreams come true
