Took a night flight from the city
Saw the daylight in Milano
Twenty four hours to breathe it in
To go up there into the caf  

That's when I saw her face
You know she took my breath away, alright
Then she smiled at me
I couldn't move, felt like I knew her forever

Went up to talk to her, get to know her
Before one word she stopped me
And said let's leave this place
You know she took me heart away, alright

She never even spoke her name
She was like an angel dancing in the rain
She said these last words as she touched my hand
Just remember me, remember me, as we land

As the sunset, turned to moonlight
On the rooftop over Milano
I lived a lifetime with a stranger
Now wishing that I could find her

If only I could turn back time
Never would have said goodbye, alright

She never even spoke her name
She was like an angel dancing in the rain
She said these last words as she touched my hand
Just remember me, remember me, as we land
As we land, as we land

She never even spoke her name
She was like an angel dancing in the rain
She said these last words as she touched my hand
Just remember me, remember me, as we land
As we land, as we land
