When I think of all the days that I have left behind, moments few and far between keep going through my mind.

A little indecision may have come along the way, but I've run out of reasons I should run, run away.

Chorus:

When it all comes down to just a single moment the decisions that we make, will decide our dying day
When all is said and done, we're just a speck in all of time and we must choose to follow You, when it all comes down

A little conversation sure can go a long, long way
human desperations can lead us all astray.

A little bit of compassion isn't enough to heal my pain when the world keeps crashin' down on me
Oh, like pourin' rain

(Chorus)
