my eyes burn from these tears you'd think you'd learn over these years good things won't last forever so what the hell am I supposed to do you only wanted the things I couldn't give to you and you had it all anyway

(chorus)
so take, take everything and leave me scrambling reaching for something that wasn't there in the first place (repeat)

tell me I'm wrong when I say I can't expect you to spend forever with me

I live for that single moment

I take back everything I said you wore those words on your lips as if they meant anything anyway sometimes I feel I can drop off the face of the earth it seems I do more harm than good I don't know if it's worth me losing sleep over this chorus (2x)
