Lost in my flannel and jeans while I day dream
Mixin my thoughts with rum
I think I'm a stranger but we'll let the crowd speak
They seem to see what I don't
Stuck in a mystery of whether my heart beats
I lost hope my but it's there
Wall with a history and people surround me
I'm guessin this year will tell

Haven't we learn by now that one can save us

The more that they rant, the more they confused me
A crystal ball would help
Yet I met a girl through fences we both speak
Learnin that love can stretch
Freely I make way, to places I've once blamed
Now there's hope and I'm glad
No more by myself, my pool is not empty
Cause now I swim with the smiles

Haven't we learn by now that one can save us

Funny a wall can put things right where they should have been
If you don't ask you might receive I've hide from the world for days and now it's my turn to breathe
Like you breathe x2

Man I learned to finally win
Oh, I can feel the sun again x2
