With an upwind facing starboard
I wasn't sure of where to go
And the salt burns my skin
And your eyes were cold as the ocean

This is our day today
Won't you find a way back
To these arms

And we're bound for where we started
With a downwind course through the harbour
And at sunset I was sorry
That this was our day today
This is our day today

Why can't you find a way
Won't you find a way back
To these arms
This is our day today
Won't you find a way back
To these arms

And are we bound for where we started
'Cause the start is where we're bound to end up
The start is where we're bound
And we're bound to end up where the start's at

And when twilight turned to darkness
I wasn't sure of where to go
And the salt burns my skin
And your eyes were cold as the ocean
This is our day today
Won't you find a way back
To these arms

Why can't you find a way
Won't you find a way back
This is our day today
Won't you find a way back
Find a way back
Find a way back
Find a way back

Find a way back
Find a way back
