

Matt Goss

"Peace Of Mind"

Visit "Peace Of Mind" on MotoLyrics.com

Sometimes there's too much time to think about my past

A chandelier in the wind, broken in parts
Why do I try to find the answer to the question
That was set by me?
A landscape over twenty years, where will I be Until then I'll try to find

I try to find my peace of mind
Turning through the pages of time
People learn by what people do
But the lesson's harder when it's learned by you

I close my eyes and visualise the things that I'll achieve
Like a tree in autumn, that sheds all it's leaves
Gathered up or blown away, but remembered within Why are my fears as certain as the blossoms in spring?
That's why I try to find

I try to find my peace of mind
Turning through the pages of time
People learn by what people do
But the lesson's harder when it's learned by you

The wind blows, the heart knows, a change is near Words of fate on paper, pulled by tears
To the gateways of destiny, oh please let me in
I can see a brighter day, so let my life begin
Until then I'll try to find

I try to find my peace of mind
Turning through the pages of time
People learn by what people do
But the lesson's harder when it's learned by you

Visit Matt Goss page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.