Way too long...

Another day, another fight,
Arguing who's wrong or right,
it always ends the same,

But my life, without you I feel a chill,
Can't live without each other still,
Hey I don't care i'll take the blame,
But I cant turn my back on you,
And if I listen to your words you feel the same way too
And if a soulmate does exist, I know its you..

We can't lose what we had,
Our memories sustain me, yeah,
They're the only things I have.
We must choose to stay and not move on,
We've been crying way too long,
Way too long...

No, you don't need to say a thing,
Your tears that fall say everything,
Take my hand, close your eyes,

Remember, all the things that make us laugh
All the good times that we had,
Let's not focus on the bad,
Sometimes love gets disconnected,
But we must care enough to redirect it,
I can't lose the soul mate that I found in you.

We can't lose what we had,
Our memories sustain me, yeah,
They're the only things I have.
So we must choose to stay and not move on,
We've been crying way too long.

We've both said things that we're not too proud of,
Let's stop and not discount that,
But time, it can't, it can't right the wrongs,
If I could I would wait a lifetime,

But neither one of us can hold out breath that long,
But it's a soul mate does exist, I know its you.

We can't lose what we had,
Our memories sustain me,
They're the only things I have
We must choose to stay and not move on, no
We've been crying way too long,

Repeat to fade...
