Darling, nothing ever goes exactly how you planned it

I guess I've been here long enough to see

That time can be your dearest friend

Or time can be a bandit

When tomorrow changes into history

And oh my my, honey everybody dies

But you got, you got to see

That you can live your life walking in a straight line

But it's more than just A to B

Maybe it'll find you lying peaceful under blankets

Or bleeding at the bottom of the stairs

Oh but it's not when or how you go

It's life and what you make it

It's the traveling, not the road that gets you there

Oh my my, honey everybody dies

But you got, you got to see

That you can live your life walking in a straight line

But it's more than just A to B

So when those funeral drums are rumbling

Like some slow and steady thunder

I'll say my last goodbyes and walk away

I'll step into the river

Let the current pull me under

And just fall into that infinite embrace

And oh my my, honey everybody dies

But you got, you got to see

That you can live your life walking in a straight line

But it's more than just A to B

Oh my my, honey everybody dies

But you got, you got to see

That you can live your life walking in a straight line
But it's more than just A to B
Yeah, it's more than just A to B
