Everyone needs somewhere to run
When the weight of this world is just too much
I know she'll be waiting with open arms
She'll take me in once again get me on my feet
And then I'll walk away with her heart

If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go
Move it on down the road and I wouldn't look back
Put the pedal to the metal in this Pontiac
If I had any kind of strength she wouldn't have to be strong
Think she needs me, she just needs me gone
Only one of us don't know
If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go

Maybe I'm afraid to be alone
Or just scared as hell to think of her moving on
It would kill me to see her with another man
I should have done the right thing, put a ring on her left hand
God knows she gave me every chance

If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go
Move it on down the road and I wouldn't look back
Put the pedal to the metal in this Pontiac
strong
Think she needs me, she just needs me gone
Only one of us don't know
If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go.

She'll lose a little sleep waiting on me tonight
But tomorrow will be the first day of the rest of her life
I hope she understands why I couldn't say goodbye

If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go
Move it on down the road and I wouldn't look back
Drop the hammer down in this old Pontiac
If I had any kind of strength she wouldn't have to be
strong
Think she needs me, she just needs me gone

God I wish I didn't know
If I was any kind of man I'd let that woman go

I gotta let that woman go
