Call off the crush, it started with my arm
Across your chest it was enough
There is so much that never goes away
There is a crush from how our arms can weigh

And deep beneath the sheets I see
Another arm that knows the way you breathe
I am not blind and I can see
In the snow you'll never be with me

I said, no, it's not right
I know it's not alright
No, it's not right
I know it's not alright, alright with me

So I should rush into another arm
Across my chest there is enough
There is so much that never goes away
There is a crush from how our arms can weigh

And deep beneath the sheets I see
Another arm that knows the way you breathe
I am not blind and I can see
In the snow you'll never be with me

I said, no, it's not right
I know it's not alright
No, it's not right
I know it's not alright, alright with me

No, it's not right
I know it's not alright
No, it's not right
I know it's not alright, alright with me

Call off the crush that goes down to our legs
It waits for dark, it waits for dusk
Our eyes will close upon another day
There is so much, there is enough
