i was fed fairy tales everyday as a child and i wished on every star open each world take me far,
somewhere, somewhere.
im sick of wasting my mind, all these things that waste my time, and i want to get away but same today and nothings changed.
i blink twice and here i lie here with my eyes lifted towards the sky and i need some change in my life, one more wish and ill be alright.
i blink twice and here i lie
with my eyes lifted towards the sky and i need some change in this life one more wish and ill call it a night. tonight, tonight.
everything i want and all that i need is right in front of me,
its not make believe its just what i see,
i wont be deceived, deceived.
and what we are is whats left in the evening, once the days had its way,
no more wishful dreaming, get up and make it happen today.
