look at you and your pretty smile lay your head upon my chest and we'll rest here for awhile cuz we've been running we been running away from our every everyday you and me we're so tired what to do, 22, the world's in front of you if my dreams could fly and if my hopes were alive i'd take you away from here we could visit, talk, just a city skyline or watch the sunrise from a distant land so lets leave this town, lets burn the map and no ones needs to know where we're headed at and we dont never have to look back we got our sails up and we're catching the right winds we dont know where we're goin we just hope it never ends
it never ends we could walk along this beach draw hearts in the sand with our toes while we're hand in hand who ever knew the water was so cool down here?
put your ear to my heart you can hear the ocean of love
put your ear to my heart you can hear the ocean of love
so lets leave this town, lets burn the map
and no ones needs to know where we're headed at
we dont know where were goin we just hope it never
in the ocean ocean of love the ocean ocean of love put your arms around my neck we can sway to the ocean of love put your lips to my lips we can feel the ocean of love put your ear to my heart you can hear the ocean of love
put your ear to my heart you can hear the ocean of love
