Back when we made our choice, miles behind us
Now when I hear your voice, I'm reminded of All of the love we share, how we're missing out
But we've got our lives to live

I know there's no one like you here
I know there's no one like you here
and we both have no intention of holding back
So I will miss you more

You know I grow so tired, tired of leaving Motion will not be made by believing that
We can just sit right here and love will conquer all
That would be so na
