Album: The Hotel Cafe

Get this table off my back

And let me teach you how to clap

We'll sketch out all our dreams

And write down our elaborate schemes

We could clone ourselves

Despite what they might say

Put them up on an immortal shelf and save them for a rainy day

Come on come on

Let's hear that laugh before I make a sound again

Invest yourself in one more trance

It's an uncomplicated jest

That locks you in with all the rest

It strangles all the mood

But it keeps you here subdued

We could sneak out the back way

Though it looks just like the entrance

Yes, it's important what they say

They all stay put with a vengeance

(Chorus)

Come on come on

Let's hear that laugh before I make a sound again

Invest yourself in one more trance

Darling, it's on it's on

It's always on

I know that's what you've found, my friend

Subject yourself to this new true Hollywood romance

Well you look like Greta Garbo

With a 1960s shag

Well I look like Katrina Neilds

All dressed up in drag

You're so daring so dashing

Your skin's the shiniest star

It's so brilliantly smashing

When I sing:

La lala la la la lala

(Chorus)

Come on come on

Come on

Come on come on

Come on
