"Long After Lights Out"

Did you say all the things you meant to say Silence has a way of arriving unannounced
If you could have said but one more little line
That you thought was timely but you couldn't find the time Time may find you, speak your mind (and your heart that's the most important part)

At the end of the daylight hours
When you slip into the nighttime powers Don't you leave thing to long after Long after lights out

Did you do all the things you wanted to Sleep comes much too quickly
To the ones who do not move
If you could have done just one more little thing That you thought important but you waited in the wings- wings are made for taking flight (rock steady in the kingdom of the night)

Powers of hte night
In a blue nocturne Gather in mists and await your return
