Seems like he had to look a long time before he gathered any answers
And by the time they came, he was just about down Saw him looking in the schoolyard in the churches and the poolhall Trying to find an exit from desolation town

Halcyon nights and radio waves
Signal Signal Signal
Never fade away
The day that he heard it he was looking in the mirror
There were no more threads, there was no more help
And he knew without doubt that the Classics of Love would not come from some bright star above but would only be delivered through his own self

[Chorus]
