Somedays are so bright
I wish I could save
Half the sunlight for a rainy day
So when it rains I'd have some sun
Somedays are so green
I wish I could keep
Half that color stored in me down deep
So when it's brown I'd have some green

It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)

Somedays I'm so close to you
That I can feel
That sweet song singing to me in my ears
Somedays I just don't want it to end
Somedays the rain comes pouring and the color fades
The music once so loud slips away
And I'm left standing all alone

It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)

'Cause good things come easily and good things go
Feelings are these feelings I'm feeling
So I can't let the joy be depending on the sunrays
Oh, somedays

It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
It's already getting better (You will never leave me)
