

Matt Zane

"In Search Of..."

Visit "In Search Of..." on MotoLyrics.com

So I take a trip to the wands' of Egypt where the pyramids lye in search of immortal existence to obtain the answer of all.

I happened to enter one of them as if someone left the door open and as I walked thorough the seemingly endless corridors not giving much thought on how I will return nor where I am being led I hear a voice, like a whine, it's calling me. I enter a room and sit to have a chat with a pharaoh from the past. He talks to me. He says "You have a choice to go on to the next state without having to bear the rest of you years but after your choose, there is no returning . It's a much greater being he says Irrational wonders. All physical threshold will be broken. Your ties, Your conceptions will not apply. Escape of the physical self. I have thoughts of going to explore what I have never knows. What is the purpose? he asks. I said there is no purpose simply because I can not understand. (Then I am told)that I'm ready to leave and so I nod my head to the room and she'd my body. I am thrust high above Egypt. Leaving the world and the physical plane becoming another entity Pure spiritualistic being I am Spirit Immortality. All is susceptible the search begins

As I decide to take a trip to hell

Within the realms I ran into a little boy

Little boy you're so young what are you doing in hell?

He told me I believed in religion therefore encasing myself with in this

Why don't you leave??

It's not possible

So I gave him life through birth with an innate yearning for the need of truth beyond what is said to be

Then I left and I heard the Indian tribes dancing> Dancing around the fire. There summoning a sign, a vision

I join them in there dance hearing the drums thumping

I want to see too

Waiting for the greater spirit to come in hope that it shall

Know the answer

